From the Class Teachers' Desk

"Success is the sum of small efforts, repeated day in and day out."

- Robert Collier

The monsoon rains bring cool energy to our vibrant green campus, setting the stage for a July packed with friendly competitions and exciting activities! Cheer on your house in the epic badminton and football clashes – these aren't just games, they're opportunities to build teamwork, grit, and sportsmanship with your classmates. It's going to be electric!

Pre-midterms? No sweat! We're all in this together – teachers, classmates, the whole school! Dive into those tricky concepts by revisiting your notes and seeking help when required. Remember, an ardent team conquers any challenge!

School is like a garden – you nurture your academic growth, but also explore different interests, fostering a beautiful and diverse personal landscape. We offer a variety of activities that go beyond textbooks, fostering friendships and a strong sense of community. It's all about striking that perfect balance between academics and extracurriculars to create an unforgettable school experience.

Just as a long journey begins with a single step, let's make July a month of learning, fun, and teamwork. With a positive attitude, we can achieve anything! So, bring on the competitions, study sessions, and exploration – here's to a fantastic time ahead! Best of luck to everyone!

Parenting Tip

Parenting in the 21st Century

In the 21st century, parents face the challenge of balancing childcare with work responsibilities. This era requires a careful equilibrium between fostering independence and ensuring safety, as well as promoting critical thinking and emotional intelligence in an increasingly interconnected but often isolated world. Here are some tips for effective 21st-century parenting.

Find Time for Your Kids

Spending quality time with your children is crucial for their mental and emotional well-being. Giving them your undivided attention makes them feel valued and loved, which boosts their self-esteem.

Encourage Independence

While it's tempting to do everything for your child, such as tying their shoelaces, packing their school bag, or feeding them, it's important to let them handle these tasks independently. This process helps them build self-confidence and learn to solve problems on their own. Gradually, they will become more self-reliant and capable of making decisions independently.

Eat Together

Family meals are an excellent opportunity for bonding and communication. Ensure that when your family sits down to eat, distractions like work and mobile phones are set aside. Mealtimes provide a chance for meaningful conversations and can be used to promote healthy eating habits, such as consuming more fruits and vegetables and recognizing when they are full to prevent overeating.

Be a Good Role Model

Children learn by observing their parents. If you want your children to exhibit discipline and kindness, you must demonstrate these character traits yourself. Treat your children the way you wish to be treated to set a positive example.

Finally, remember to take care of yourself. Parenting can be overwhelming, and maintaining your well-being is essential for being the best parent that you can be.

Health Tip

As we grow, establishing good posture habits early is essential to ensure develop strong, healthy bodies and avoid future complications. These health tips will help us maintain good posture in various aspects of our daily lives. By incorporating these practices, we can develop habits that will benefit us in maintaining long-term health and well-being.

Here are some health tips to help us maintain good posture:

Proper Sitting Posture:

Chair and Desk Setup: Ensure the chair and desk are appropriately sized. The chair should support the lower back, and the feet should rest flat on the floor.

Posture Check: Sit with the back straight, shoulders relaxed, and both feet on the ground and knees should be at a right angle.

Promote Regular Movement:

Frequent Breaks: Take short breaks every 30-45 minutes to stand up, stretch, and move around.

Active Play: Ensure to have plenty of opportunities for physical activities and sports, which help strengthen muscles and improve posture.

Backpack Safety:

Proper Weight: Children should not overload their backpacks. It should not weigh more than 10-15% of their body weight.

Wear it Right: Advise them to use both shoulder straps and adjust the backpack so it sits high on their back, not sagging down.

Sleeping Posture:

Good Mattress: Ensure to have a supportive mattress.

Sleep Positions: Encourage sleeping on the back or side rather than the stomach, as it can strain the neck and back.

Screen Time Management:

Screen Position: Make sure screens (computers, tablets, phones) are at eye level to avoid neck strain.

Limit Duration: Limit the amount of time spent on screens and encourage frequent breaks to reduce eye and neck strain.

Strengthening Exercises:

Core Exercises: Activities like planks, yoga, and pilates can strengthen the core muscles, which support good posture.

Balance Activities: Encourage exercises that promote balance and coordination, such as standing on one foot or using a balance board.

Regular Health Check-ups:

Monitor Growth: Regular visits to a pediatrician can help monitor the child's growth and identify any posture-related issues early on.

Vision Check: Ensure their vision is checked regularly, as poor eyesight can lead to slouching or leaning forward to see better.

Encouraging good posture habits from an early age can help prevent long-term issues and promote a healthy lifestyle.

Testimonials

Dear Ma'am,

I am honoured to share my experience for our school newsletter. Here's a testimonial that reflects my journey:

As I reflect on the past year, I am filled with a sense of pride and gratitude. The unwavering support and exceptional education provided by our esteemed school.

Academic Excellence: The rigorous curriculum challenged me to push beyond my limits, fostering a deep understanding of various subjects. The teachers, with their expertise and dedication, were the guiding stars that illuminated my path to academic excellence.

Holistic Development: Our school's emphasis on holistic development ensured that while my intellect was sharpened, my values and principles were also nurtured. Participating in extracurricular activities, from dance to sports, helped me develop a well-rounded personality.

Looking Forward: As I embark on a new academic year, I carry with me the lessons learned and the memories made. I am confident that the foundation laid by our school has prepared me to face future challenges with resilience and determination.

Last but not the least...

"The Beauty and the Beast". Thank you for providing us such a big platform. Indeed it was one of the most memorable experience.

So, embrace every opportunity, strive for excellence, and remember that success is a journey, not a destination.

With heartfelt thanks,

Aahana Sarawgi
